

Robert Nešpůrek

Partner

Robert Nešpůrek is one of the founding partners of our law firm. He leads the Commercial, Technology & IP practice group and is also a member of the M&A practice group.

A significant part of Robert's legal practice focuses on corporate and commercial transactions, with a particular emphasis on IT and technology, e-commerce, retail, media, and video game-related deals—often involving the transfer of technology or intellectual property rights. He regularly advises strategic investors, private equity funds, and business owners. His expertise includes the negotiation of complex commercial contracts and out-of-court dispute resolution.

In the field of information technology, Robert advises clients on software law, IT delivery and implementation projects, IT outsourcing, and the resolution of disputes in complex IT matters. He also leads a team that specializes in data protection law and digital services regulation. Additionally, he advises clients on the commercial and regulatory aspects of film, television broadcasting, and video games.

Robert is responsible for delivering outsourced Data Protection Officer services. He also heads a team that provides guidance on whistleblowing matters, including the provision of outsourced whistleblowing officers and the handling of whistleblower reports.

Before co-founding our law firm, Robert worked in the Prague and London offices of a global law firm. He holds an LL.M. degree in European Business Law from Radboud University Nijmegen in the Netherlands.

Recognitions

Robert is consistently ranked among the leading experts in TMT by international publications such as Chambers and Partners and Legal500. Lexology's Index (formerly Who's Who Legal) recommends him as an expert in Information Technology, Telecoms & Media, and Data Privacy and Protection.

Before establishing our law firm, Robert worked at the Prague and subsequently London offices of a global law firm. He obtained an LL.M. degree in European Business Law from Radboud University Nijmegen in the Netherlands.

Projects

- advised a major mobile telecommunications operator on the acquisition of a company providing fixed telephony services
- advised an international strategic investor on the acquisition of a video game development studio
- represented a private equity fund in acquiring stakes in multiple telecommunications and tech companies
- advised a strategic investor on the acquisition of an online services provider
- advised on the acquisition of a home building savings bank by its major competitor
- advised on the acquisition of a leading ammunition manufacturer by a foreign investor
- advised on the acquisition and sale of a major consumer goods manufacturer in the construction sector by a private equity fund
- represented a global strategic investor in multiple acquisitions and sales in the food industry
- advised on the acquisition and sale of a group of companies in the automotive sector
- advised one of the world's leading IT service providers on various projects in the Czech Republic
- advised an international IT solutions provider on multiple IT outsourcing projects
- assisted international film studios and film financiers with film productions in the Czech Republic
- advised a major consumer goods retailer on market entry and securing IP rights in the Czech Republic
- represented several global corporations in contractual disputes and international arbitration proceedings

Membership in professional associations

Czech Bar Association
International Bar Association

Languages

Czech, English

Education

Radboud University Nijmegen, the Netherlands (1998), LL.M. in European Business Law
Charles University, Faculty of Law, Prague, Czech Republic (1997), Mgr. (Master of Laws)

E: robert.nespurek@havelpartners.cz